

AVIDHIFI Unveils Upgraded INTEGRA with Remote Control

AVIDHIFI, can announce the release of its latest version of the INTEGRA Integrated Amplifier, featuring several upgrades and a brand new remote control.

The new INTEGRA boasts an exquisite remote control, machined from solid aluminium and providing volume up, down and mute functions. The remote control provides a sleek and modern way of adjusting sound levels, allowing the user to enjoy an immersive audio experience with ease.

In addition to the remote control, the new version features significant improvements to the power supply and phono stage, enhancements which result in even better sound quality, delivering a more refined and detailed audio experience that is sure to impress even the most discerning audiophiles.

"We are excited to introduce our upgraded INTEGRA Amplifier, which now comes with a sleek remote control and several other improvements," said Conrad Mas of AVIDHIFI. "This new version represents our ongoing commitment to delivering high-quality audio equipment that meets the needs and expectations of our customers."
